Call for selection
VISITING PROFESSOR 2026-2027
Department of Political and Social Sciences

Article 1

The Alma Mater Studiorum – University of Bologna – Department of Political and Social Sciences, in the framework of the Excellent University Departments Project 2023-2027 funded by the Italian Ministry of University and Research, to foster the internationalization of teaching and research activities, adopts the present call, concerning n. 1 Position for Visiting Professor for well-established scholars who are invited to primarily engage in teaching and potentially research activities during the first semester of academic year 2026-2027 (September 2026 - December 2026).

This initiative aims to attract expertise from around the world to collaborate with the Department of Political and Social Sciences, fostering its role at the global level and promoting mobility while improving the quality and diversity of teaching activities. The program shall lead to scientific interaction between the invited foreign scholars and the staff of the Department with regard to the priorities identified in the Excellence Project, through joint organization of academic events, scientific collaboration for academic research, or joint applications to competitive calls. The Selected Visiting Professor will be required to hold seminar teaching for at least 8 hours to Bachelor, Master or PhD students and/or in research seminars for faculty, the university community or the general public.

Article 2

Applicants propose a project/plan focused on teaching and potentially research related to the topics addressed in the Excellence Project 2023-2027, namely the transnational dimension of political and socioeconomic phenomena, such as migration, climate change, pandemics, or armed conflicts (but not exclusively), which undermine the traditional scope of national sovereignty. Understanding the consequent blurring of the distinction between the internal/domestic and the external/international/transnational dimensions of these phenomena lies at the core of the Excellence Project. It also requires elaborating new scientific tools to grasp their causes and their impact from a comparative and global perspective.

Visiting Professor will be entitled to:

- be provided with a fully-equipped working space in the Department for 3 to 4 weeks between the 14th of September 2026 and the 18th December 2026;
- accede the items and IT resources of the Department;
- collaborate with teaching and research;
